ABOUT ME

After spending several years in Sales Administration and Marketing, my curiosity and affinities for technologies made me jump into a new world: Programming.

I recently graduated from the Full-Stack Web Development bootcamp at Ironhack where I learn the MERN technologies, JavaScript, HTML and CSS.

During my previous professional experiences, I learnt to adapt quickly to new technologies, systems or regulations.

I am looking for challenges to put in practice my recently learnt skills, but also a team that will help me grow and gain new skills.
